Internal Investigations

Interim Chief T. R. Bellamy has reviewed the “second report” stemming from concerns raised by outside agencies and personnel within the Greensboro Police Department. As reported previously, the “first report” dealt primarily with issues of inaccurate and incomplete information provided by the former Police Chief and was conducted by an outside law enforcement consultant. This “second report” focuses on internal administrative and investigative issues and was written as a result of the City Legal Department’s investigation.

Based on an initial review of the facts, Chief Bellamy has determined that there were, in fact, irregularities in the practices of the Special Intelligence Division, Vice/Narcotics, and Police Administration. These irregularities involved the handling of internal investigations, and top administrators in the Police Department were aware of and approved them.

Chief Bellamy has directed that improper actions which may have resulted from such inappropriate activities be reviewed. After a thorough and complete investigation, appropriate personnel actions will be determined.
